Capitalizing Income

Men of considerable earning power often overlook opportunities to capitalize a portion of their incomes.

It is important for the business executive to set aside a reserve, or to create a source of income quite independent of his calling. The "saving idea" is not alone for the wage earner.

The "Wachovia Trust Plan" offers a method by which part of a comfortable income may be capitalized—turned into permanent capital. It also offers the solution of the business man's investment problems.

Wanted: Trained Men

THE UNIVERSITY AGENCY has voted unanimously that the University needs a stronger and more healthy support from the citizens of North Carolina. It urges the State to become better acquainted with the conditions at its University, and to instruct its legislators to make the appropriation asked for by the authorities.

THE UNIVERSITY AGENCY realizes the fact that trained young men are the greatest asset to any state, and that an investment in higher education will bring in returns doubled many times. The future of the State is in the hands of the young men of today, and we implore the State to train them to the task.

We are "doing our bit" by co-operating with Carolina students and alumni in protecting their credit, their homes and business interests. Write us or come to see us and let us serve you.

THE ALUMNI REVIEW

Volume IX

FEBRUARY, 1921

Number 5

To the Members of the General Assembly of North Carolina

As presidents of the alumni associations of the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering, the North Carolina College for Women, the Eastern Carolina Training School, and the University of North Carolina, we respectfully memorialize the legislators of North Carolina in behalf of the colleges and the youth of the State. The student bodies of these colleges have sent their simple message of urgent facts and critical needs to the people of North Carolina. We, the alumni of the state colleges, as constituent parts of the people, take up their message and send it to you for large consideration and statesmanlike action.

In educational conferences, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs, women's clubs, college groups, intercollegiate groups, a chapter of the American Legion, Junior Order of American Mechanics, and public mass meetings all over North Carolina, an aggressive stand has been taken for decisive and adequate legislative action. The spirit and enthusiasm of these meetings, often expressed in resolutions, called for action that would provide for not only the thousands now crowding the colleges but also the coming flood of high school graduates who of themselves challenge your consideration and make necessary the minimum building program provided for in the $20,000,000 bond issue for all state institutions, educational and charitable, as outlined by the public spirited Promoters of Education in North Carolina.

We petition you in the name of the scores of local alumni associations representing thousands of citizens of North Carolina, committed to an adequate, farsighted building program, wherever and whenever they have met together; in the name of the boys and girls today crowded in and crowded out of the colleges of North Carolina, in the name of the 26,000 boys and girls in the high schools today; and we respectfully petition you to hear their voices above the mistaken sounds of political expediency and the passing cry of temporary hard times. We petition you to vindicate constitutional equality and educational democracy in North Carolina. We petition you to make permanent and worthy room for all the sons and daughters of North Carolina who will unceasingly come knocking at the college gates.

R. D. W. CONNOR, President of the University of North Carolina Alumni Association; C. V. YORK, President of the North Carolina State College Alumni Association; LAURA COIT, President of the North Carolina College for Women Alumnae Association; JOSIE DORSETT, President of the Eastern Carolina Training School Alumnae Association.

FIGHTING FOR THE FUTURE

YOUR PART IN THE FIGHT

One thousand students of the University of North Carolina in the largest mass meeting of the year enlisted:—

- 1.—In the Cause of the Boys and Girls Crowded in and Crowded Out of the Colleges of North Carolina.
- 2.—In the Cause of the 26,000 Boys and Girls Today in the High Schools of North Carolina.

THE ISSUES DRAWN

After months of a crusade in taking the facts to the people the far-reaching issues of the battle are drawn. Within the next six weeks the people of North Carolina in legislative action at Raleigh will:

EITHER

Fling wide the doors of welcome to the thousands of boys and girls who are knocking and will in rising tidal ranks continue to knock at the doors of opportunity;

—OR—

For luckless hundreds of them, lock the doors of opportunity, put down the windows of hope, and throw away the key to the future.

THE FIGHT IS FOR EQUALITY

The fight for equal educational opportunity that has shaken the great State of North Carolina from the sand-reefs of Hatteras to the mountain-crested Tennessee line has now centered in the Legislative halls of the State Capitol.

THE STATE IS THE BATTLE-GROUND—RALEIGH IS THE DECISION GROUND—THE ZERO HOUR HAS STRUCK

THE FIGHT MUST BE PRESSED TO THE END

The command is FORWARD! and the command must come from the people. The Legislature will go as far as the people pass up the word.

CASH IN YOUR ALUMNI LOYALTY

By sitting down today and writing to the legislators yourself and getting influential, public-spirited citizens back home to write to their representatives in the Legislature:—

To SUPPORT the state-wide public educational program by a $20,000,000 bond issue.

—AND THEREBY—

To OPEN the doors of the colleges equally to all her sons and daughters

A VOICE FROM THE FOLKS BACK HOME SPEAKS WITH THE POWER OF COMMAND AND THE COMMAND IS FORWARD!

OPINION AND COMMENT

The Alumni Associations Present the Issue

Through the petition appearing on the preceding page, the presidents of the alumni associations of four of the State's institutions for higher learning have put the responsibility for the future of the State's institutions both charitable and educational up to the members of the General Assembly. Without reference to the action or inaction of the Budget Commission, or to any other officer of the State, they have gone direct to the legislature for building and maintenance programs which will provide for North Carolina's unfortunates and will enable the hosts of North Carolina boys and girls now thronging the high schools to enter college doors wherein they will find equipment and instruction sufficiently adequate to fit them for high service to their day and generation.

They Ask for a State in which the Youth may Grow to Full Stature

In presenting this memorial, these men and women are but representative of the hundreds and thousands of forward-looking men and women who have caught a vision of a new and finer civilization for North Carolina, who, like the late, far-visioned Edward Kidder Graham, believe that this decade is to be the greatest decade, educationally and otherwise, that North Carolina has ever experienced.

They know that North Carolina is astir from ocean to mountain to break away from her former limited life.

They know that the present generation of high school students, of boys and girls in North Carolina colleges, of recent college graduates, of young ex-service men, of newly enfranchised women, is demanding the privilege of building for itself a State in which men and women can grow to full stature in every walk of life.

They know that North Carolina, once bound by a pinching blighting poverty, is abundantly able at this hour to do adequately for her citizenship whatever she wants to do.

They know that in mass meetings, conferences, clubs, and associations wherever her public voice has lifted itself to be heard, North Carolina has said that she wanted to do the right thing.

They know that the fulfillment of the desire of the people who have spoken and of their children who are to follow after them, depends upon the statesmanship and vision of the representatives of North Carolina now assembled at Raleigh.

And knowing this, with a faith that will not be denied they have laid this memorial upon the knees of the members of the General Assembly of 1921—the builders of North Carolina's great tomorrow.

Governor Morrison Champions the Cause of a Greater State

In courageous words that will be remembered by North Carolinians for many a year Governor Cameron Morrison in his inaugural address on January 12 committed himself unreservedly to the following program of greater State building and called upon all patriotic men and women to assist him in carrying it forward.

We must take humane care of all our defective and unfortunate people whose misfortunes are of a character that they cannot care for themselves.

We must throw around the home and life of our people an enlightened world's knowledge of preventive medicine, and make ceaseless war upon sickness, suffering, and death in this State.

We must make the common schools for the training and education of our children as good as any in the world.

It is no disgrace that our common schools have been so successful as to overcrowd our institutions of higher learning. But it will be a badge of shame and degradation if the higher institutions of learning are not promptly made adequate for the demands which the success of our effort to educate all the people have so rapidly made upon these institutions.

We must have good surface roads in the State. The main highways must be of hard surface and dependable every day in the year.

The credit of our State is in a most healthy condition and those who are solicitous of future generations could not complain of the increase of our public indebtedness for these great purposes when they reflect that North Carolina has heretofore created practically no public debt for future generations to pay, and that we would, if this program is carried out, transmit to those who come after us a heritage nobler by far with the indebtedness than it would be without it.

The reactionary will whimper to the timid that this is a bad time to expend so much money because of the depressed conditions of our whole business life. * * * Times are hard, but they do not approach the severity of the conditions which we have met with courage in the past.

North Carolina is one of the truly rich and great states of the Union, and nothing can keep prosperity from soon returning except our own cowardice and pessimism.

We Hold the Future in Our Hands

Did you ever stop to think why Esau sold his birthright?

Cotton had slumped. Tobacco was in the cellar. Game was scarce. He couldn't pay his fertilizer bill, and taxes had just naturally wiped him out!

And so, for a mess of pottage, he sold his birthright!

Today, according to Governor Morrison, "the reactionary will whimper to the timid that this is a bad time to expend so much money because of the depressed condition of our whole business life." Today, the reactionary is whimpering to the faint-hearted let's sell the birthrights of our boys and girls, because it requires too much courage and vision to make the sacrifice for the permanent and enduring things of a great civilization.

What the Boys and Girls Think About their Birthrights

But the boys and girls of North Carolina, the thousands of young men who fought through the World War to make democracy safe, the hundreds and thousands of newly enfranchised women who underwent privation for the winning of the world's freedom, do not intend to be disposed of with a whimper. Backed by thousands of the forward-looking citizenship who wish their cause success, they are fighting for the opportunity to live out well rounded lives in a North Carolina made ready for them.

Their fighting attitude was definitely made known a few days ago by thirty members of the senior class of the high school of Henderson in the following resolutions placed in the hands of their Senator in the present General Assembly:

The question of the educational fund for the colleges of North Carolina is probably the paramount issue facing the legislature now in session. In view of this may we not submit for your attention a few facts concerning conditions existing in the Henderson high school.

The class which graduated from the school in June, 1920, was composed of 15 members. The class which will graduate in June, 1921, has as its enrollment 32 or an increase of 100 per cent.

By a canvass taken at the beginning of this school year it was found that practically the entire membership of the present senior class expect to enter some college. Present indications point to the fact that a part of them will find it necessary to go out of this State to secure their further education.

The number of second year pupils is far beyond that of the seniors. The freshman class outnumber the second year students by a considerable majority. Thus every year witnesses a substantial increase in the number of high school graduates, while our colleges are at a standstill.

In consideration of the above facts, we, the senior class of the Henderson high school, do humbly petition you to cast your ballot and exert your influence in favor of the $18,000,000 fund for the educational institutions of North Carolina.

Greensboro and High Point Lead the Way

What wide-awake cities think about this business of building the finer State, of providing educational facilities for their children, was splendidly demonstrated by Greensboro and High Point on January 19. Recently Greensboro made a scientific survey of its school system. The survey revealed in detail the city's educational needs. The citizenship took the proposition up courageously and underwrote the program with an issue of $1,000,000 in bonds.

The same day High Point, whose furniture factories had been at a standstill for several months, decided that its children were its greatest asset and underwrote their education program with a bond issue of $600,000.

In these two communities adequate educational facilities are not set down in the ledger as liabilities but rather as what they are, dividend-yielding assets.

And Guilford County, in which both cities are situated, had only recently voted a bond issue of $2,000,000 for good roads!

This Is Our Fighting Line—Forward!

The whole alumni campaign for the $20,000,000 building fund for all State institutions has been an informational campaign among the people. The plan is to keep it an informational campaign to go rolling forward in aggressive public opinion. This aggressive public opinion will body forth in public action. The Central Alumni Committee has fought for three months persistently and openly, has tried to place the case before the people and will continue to place the case before the people. Its fighting policy has been to reach the people and have the people reach the legislature.

But the campaign is more than a campaign of information; it is also a campaign of action. The people must know; the people must act. The people have acted in conference, rallies, and mass meetings. But action must continue. How about stirring up a mass meeting in your town and county? Get in touch with the Chairman (F. P. Graham) of the Central Committee and he will send you any speaker, information, suggestions, and plans that you want or need. The experience and results of conferences, rallies, and mass meetings have been inspiring to the whole State. Keep it moving. There is but one word passing down the fighting ranks: The word is Forward!

In addition to mass meetings, have influential citizens to write to their representatives in the legislature. Telegrams from the home folks, across the Mississippi River to the delegates in Baltimore, nominated Woodrow Wilson in spite of the fact Bosses Murphy, Nugent, and Sullivan had the convention sewed up for Clark. Get letters, telegrams from individuals to legislators and petitions and resolutions from every public spirited organization in your county pouring into Raleigh. We do not want to go to Raleigh except by way of public opinion. The chairman of the Central Committee has had many suggestions for a bureau and an organized move on and demonstration in Raleigh. He has discouraged all such suggestions in the name of the committee and has continued to hold to the idea of a campaign of information and action of, for, and by the people.

You, alumnus and citizen, can get a dozen citizens into action by having them to send messages from the folks at home to their representatives in Raleigh.

Before the sun goes down get your feet and mouth to moving, the ink to flowing, and the wires to hopping with the messages of progress and hope for North Carolina. Hit the center! It's still $20,000,000 for men's colleges, women's colleges, white colleges, colored colleges, technical colleges, teachers' colleges, blind, deaf, and dumb institutions, schools for defectives, asylums for the insane. Twenty million dollars! for the State's most unfortunate people, those without sight, without hearing, without speech, and without reason; and for the State's most fortunate people, her boys and girls, her youth, her hope for tomorrow! Twenty million dollars will come back to the people of North Carolina a hundred fold in the values of her resources and youth and spirit. The fight is clear and the lines are drawn: pessimism or faith, progress or faltering, action or reaction. The word is Forward! Let's Go!

Cheer Up and Go to It!

THE REVIEW is not a statistician. Neither is it a prophet. But it can and does say, cheer up and go to it!

How come? Why it's simple: Cotton and tobacco have perked up; furniture factories and cotton mills are running again; the banks, bless 'em, turned loose the regular January dividends, salted down a tidy little sum as surplus, and "give out" the dope that the trifling amount of $463,118,896.22 was tucked away in checking and saving accounts and other forms of banking resources!

And then "come along" the word from the Department of Agriculture that although the dear Old North State had dropped back from fourth to sixth place in the value of farm crops produced in 1920, still her smoke houses and barns were full and what had been made by scratching the soil totaled up (including huckleberries and mullen leaves) about $412,374,000.

We plumb forgot the $500,000,000 or $600,000,000 worth of manufactured truck our factories turned out, which, laid along side of the farm truck, ran up to something over $1,000,000,000. produced in 1920.

And by gum, now that we come to think of it, there is that $250,000,000 of saving stamps and liberty bonds laid away that isn't worth a cent except to yield about $10,000,000 annually for pin money, and there is land, and stores, and houses, and mules, and automobiles, and everything else that the oppressive tax-grabbers put down on the books for above $3,000,000,000 but which we wouldn't sell for that amount tomorrow, no, not by a long sight, even if we do howl that it is listed too high!

Again we say, cheer up and go to it!

Thomas Walter Bickett

In the matter of State building Thomas Walter Bickett, who retired from the office of Chief Executive of North Carolina on January 12, has much marked up to his credit which lays the State he so splendidly served under tribute to him and furnishes him memories of things accomplished which will ever be cause for happiness to him.

THE REVIEW will not attempt a catalogue of his many activities. But it will remember in the years to be that his voice rang sincerely and clear for a finer State to live in. He was a friend to the unfortunate and delinquent. He held it to be his high privilege to break down the isolation and cramping limitations of the country side. He carried the fight against disease deep into enemy territory. He underwrote a system of professional training for teachers and the lengthening of public school term from four to six months. And with a courage and statesmanship rarely exhibited in North Carolina political life he became the flaming, effective evangel of equality in taxation for every son and daughter of North Carolina.

Two other things splendidly written into the record are: His voice as our representative beyond the borders of the State was always heard with respect, and the fact that his hand was at the helm while the destinies of the State were being tried by the fires of the world conflagration, gave assurance and hope.

As Thomas Walter Bickett takes up anew the work of a private citizen, the good wishes of THE REVIEW and Alma Mater go with him.

A Long Step Forward

The news that William McKeithan Fetzer and his brother, Robert A. Fetzer, have been appointed respectively director of athletics and associate director has been hailed by alumni and students as a wise step. To this THE REVIEW cries Amen!

Full details of the arrangement under which the two Fetzers assume the leadership of the University's athletics will be found on another page. The athletic authorities have taken up again a policy outlined in 1915, put into effect under T. J. Campbell, but interrupted by the war. This policy emphasizes the full scope of a full-time director with general oversight over all the working of athletic activities, lays special stress on the development of games among all the students, looks to the further development of high school athletics in the State, and calls for continued devotion to the highest ideals of clean sport and sportsmanship. It goes further, because it seeks to cover more ground than the special qualifications of a football coach outlined in the December, 1920 issue of THE REVIEW; but so far as football alone is concerned the two run almost parallel. THE REVIEW argued for a football coach "who knows the game and has proved that he can teach; who has the personality . . . ; who knows from intimate experience the conditions surrounding football at the University, in North Carolina, and in the South Atlantic states; who loves or can come to love the atmosphere of Chapel Hill and would like to live here; and who is engaged on a long term contract" The extension of sports among all the students, the development of high school athletics, the insistence on the fine spirit of clean sportsmanship are so fundamentally sound that no word here need be spent on them.

From every possible angle the choosing of the two Fetzers, Bill and Bob, to direct such a policy is wisdom from on high. There is plenty of work for both, maybe too much; but that they can do the work is written in the records of both men. The older Fetzer, W. M., is known all over North Carolina and throughout the South for sound athletic teaching and high athletic ideals. Robert A. Fetzer has become known in Virginia, where most of his coaching has been, as an unusual type of conscientious, energetic leader. The two together should make the strongest coaching combination in the South.

TRUSTEES WORK FOR THE WHOLE PROGRAM

Confident that the day has come in North Carolina when the University should be permitted to carry into execution the program of expansion which the State is demanding of it, the Board of Trustees at their winter meeting January 25 (after THE REVIEW had practically gone to press), adopted the following resolution backing the entire building program of $5,585,000 presented in the January issue of THE REVIEW and formerly approved by the Executive Committee of the Trustees and the full Board at the special called meeting of December 30:

WHEREAS, The Budget Commission, in reporting its recommendations for the building program of the University, felt obliged, because of the statute under which it was operating, to confine itself to a recommendation concerning the building needs of the University for the next two years.

AND WHEREAS, The full building program of the University, as approved by the Trustees in special session on December thirtieth, is a program intended to be spread over a series of years, and has therefore not been passed on by any legislative body;

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED by the Board of Trustees of the University, That the President of the University and the Legislative Committee of the Board be and hereby are instructed to present this full building program to the proper committees of the General Assembly now in session, and to request the General Assembly to provide at this session funds to carry out the full program of $5,585,000.

In presenting this resolution the Trustees had before them the report of the Budget Commission as submitted to the General Assembly on January 13 in which the commission recommended the following building program for the next two years:

Dormitories to care for 640 students	$265,000.00
Dining room, kitchen, and storage	150,000.00
Two classroom buildings	300,000.00
Heating, light, and water	100,000.00
Furniture	50,000.00
Faculty houses	50,000.00
Departmental equipment	50,000.00
Fire protection	25,000.00
Total	$990,000.00

At the same time the commission recommended a maintenance program of $425,000 for each of the two years instead of the $473,911 and $494,336 asked for 1921 and 1922 respectively.

Without arguing the case here, it is self evident that the Trustees could not have performed their duty as guardians of the University by following any other method than the one indicated in the resolution. Theirs is the inescapable duty of laying the needs of the University before the General Assembly regardless of what the Budget Commission recommended.

Theirs is the duty, for example, to show and show convincingly, that no program which merely provided for dormitories, dining hall, and classrooms, could for one moment relieve the pressure of the Law Building, the Medical Laboratory, the Infirmary, the Chapel, to mention only four of a half score of pressing instances. These buildings are already jammed beyond capacity. To provide dormitories for 640 more students for example, means that the present demand on the Chapel, the Law Building, the Chemistry Building, the Infirmary, and all others is to be increased to just that extent.

It is their duty to show that no program of new dormitory construction can atone for failure to renovate the Old East, the Old West, the Old South, New East, New West dormitories which have served North Carolina from sixty to one hundred and twenty-five years, and which today are in utter disrepair but can be made to serve the State for other generations if only they are given attention.

Their duty is to show, and show convincingly, that the physical plant is not adequate, and that it cannot be made adequate by adding to it in spots. The State, after putting off from year to year the job of building adequately, is today confronted with the task of correcting its past omissions and providing courageously and amply for the future,—whether with one, or two, or three, or a score of buildings!

Theirs also is the duty to show the necessity for annual maintenance which will provide adequate equipment and instruction, without which the University cannot hope to perform its splendid mission of service to North Carolina.

ALUMNI SHOW THEIR FIGHTING METTLE

The largest number of alumni meetings ever held in the State in any year in the history of the University were held during the Christmas holidays. These twenty-five meetings and more were all enthusiastically devoted to the $20,000,000 building program for the State institutions. Whether in the cheering mountains of Caldwell County, or in the supposedly depressed cotton regions of Cabarrus or in the undismayed tobacco lands of Granville and Lenoir or whether to the northeast in Perquimans or toward the Atlantic on the Neuse, the spirit and resolution of all these meetings had the same common denominator of determination and fighting spirit to put the whole program through and over all the odds of hard times, pessimism, and reaction.

Caldwell Strikes Keynote

Up in Caldwell County in the financially hard hit furniture town of Lenoir ("fourth largest furniture manufacturing town in the United States" says the live local chamber of commerce) a fighting meeting was held by the alumni and students of all the North Carolina colleges, State and denominational, together with a large number of influential teachers, preachers, club women, members of the chamber of commerce, business men, pillars in the churches, and non-college citizens. The meeting was an aggressive business meeting to underwrite in vigorous public opinion the State's progressive educational program. Horace Sisk, superintendent of schools, presided. Frank P. Graham of the University faculty, outlined the needs and the plan, sounded the keynote and spoke in behalf of all the colleges and the youth of the State. A resolution was introduced by T. E. Story calling on the legislature to put through the entire building program. Former Lieutenant Governor W. C. Newland, a graduate of West Point, J. L. Nelson, a prominent business man, and the Baptist minister, a graduate of Wake Forest, all spoke strongly for the $20,000,000 bond issue. Talks were made by representatives of ten North Carolina colleges. Harold Corpening, of the student body, spoke clearly of the University's needs. The resolution was unanimously passed to back both the $20,000,000 building plan for the State institutions and the program of the North Carolina Good Roads Association. Representative A. A. Blackwelder rose to the occasion, pledged his support to both programs and said if such meetings could be held in every county in North Carolina that the legislators instead of being afraid to vote for would be afraid to vote against the $20,000,000 investment in youth and the future greatness of the State.

Rutherford Rings True

The alumni of Rutherfordton, Spindale, and their environs under the leadership of Kenneth Tanner and R. E. Price, joined forces with the alumni of State and church colleges, men's and women's colleges, and citizens of the region, in a banquet-conference on the crisis in the congested colleges of North Carolina. It was the largest such gathering ever held in the county says The Sun. Frank P. Graham, of the University faculty, presented the case of the colleges and sounded the call for action. Representatives of a half dozen colleges made vivid the needs and caught up the challenge for an aggressive movement to meet the desperate situation. Senator Sol. Gallert and Representative C. F. Gline spoke in favor of liberal appropriations for State institutions. J. M. Carson, trustee, J. C. Cowan, Jr., of the student body, M. L. Edwards, Dr. W. S. Green, O. C. Erwin, secretary of the chamber of commerce, and B. F. Dalton spoke in favor of the building program for State institutions and Superintendent Brooks' educational policy. The North Carolina College for Women alumnae organized immediately after the meeting to join in the fight.

In taking this position, the Board justified the faith which the student body, the faculty, the alumni, and the State have in it. The hour calls for definite leadership, for constructive planning, for decisive action. The Trustees have shown all of these, and the people will rally to their standards.

President Chase Features Rockingham Meeting

The Richmond County alumni held an enthusiastic meeting at the old Steele home in Rockingham where once lived Col. Walter L. Steele, one of the factors in the reopening of the University. Thomas C. Leak, president of the alumni association, acted as toastmaster. H. S. Everett, '20, spoke ably on the students' attitude to University problems. Carl Coley electrified the group with his impassioned talk on "Why I went to the University." Mr. Leak introduced W. N. Everett, as close to the problems of the University in his capacity of chairman of the board of visitors of the trustees and as the decisive personal factor in getting the award by the General Education Board for a temporary increase in salaries of University professors. Mr. Everett spoke of the far reaching influence of the University, sketched its present needs and introduced President Chase. President Chase in a clear and able manner told the story of congestion in terms of outgrown college equipment, the expansion of the public schools, and raised the question as to what is going to be done about the situation. "Will the State provide more dormitories or will ambitious boys be compelled to give up thoughts of a University education?" At the conclusion of Dr. Chase's address the students gave the college yell for him and sang "Hark the Sound of Tar Heel Voices." Impromptu talks were made by Mrs. Lucy P. Russell, an honorary member of the association, Fred W. Bynum, Senator M. W. Nash, and L. J. Bell. T. C. Leak was elected president, W. N. Everett, Jr., vice-president, and Isaac S. London, secretary and treasurer.

Madison Stages Rousing Banquet

Carolina alumni and students of Rockingham County, with invited guests including alumni and students of other colleges, held their annual banquet at Madison on December 29th. W. R. Dalton, of Reidsville, president of the association, was toastmaster. Greetings were spoken by W. E. Price, of Madison, and response was given by A. D. Ivie, of Spray. Short speeches were made by the representatives of different colleges. Inspiring talks were made by Rev. P. H. Gwynn, of Leaksville, and Luther Hodges, of Spray. M. T. Smith, of Reidsville, proposed a constitution and by-laws for the association. The assembly drafted resolutions calling on the Rockingham County legislators to vote and work for the full appropriation needed by the University and the State colleges. The Rockingham County alumni never miss holding a rousing banquet on University Day and another rousing banquet during the Christmas holidays.

Hertford Organizes Association

Amidst a setting that was fitting for the occasion Carolina alumni and students of Perquimans County held a banquet at Hertford on December 29th, and organized a county alumni association. Dr. R. W. Smith was elected president, and D. M. Field, Jr., was elected secretary. The alumni backed up solidly the campaign for higher education in the State, and adopted a resolution urging the representative of Perquimans County in the legislature to give his full support to all measures providing for the better equipment of the State educational institutions.

Lexington Holds General Meeting

Alumni and students of the University, together with alumni and students of other institutions and business and professional men of Lexington, held an enthusiastic meeting on December 30th, and endorsed the campaign for higher education in the State. It was productive of much good for the cause of higher education in North Carolina.

Big Meeting at Winston-Salem

Forsyth County alumni and students held an enthusiastic meeting at Winston-Salem on January 3rd. Burton Craige, president of the association, pointed out that the University could not adequately accommodate the number of students which she now has, much less the number who will be calling for admittance next year and the year after. Professor A. H. Patterson, of the University faculty, present as a guest of his home county association, pointed out that the University must either fix the number of students to be admitted, or expand the institution so as to take care of all young people who desire to attend. He pointed out that the only proper course was to expand the facilities of the University so that every North Carolina youth could secure admission who desired it.

James A. Gray, of the board of trustees, former State Senator and a member of the budget commission, predicted a very careful consideration of University needs on the part of the legislature now in session. Others who made talks at the meeting were Walter Thompson, Dr. Howard E. Rondthaler, A. H. Eller, of the board of trustees, Arthur Spaugh, Robbins Lowe, captain of the football team, and Charles Siewers. The affair, which took the form of a smoker, was attended by seventy-five or more alumni and students. It served to center attention on the University's needs and to bind together the alumni and students more firmly in bonds of fellowship.

Kinston's Biggest Alumni Banquet

Allen was elected secretary and treasurer.

Resolutions were adopted by the association calling upon the Buncombe County legislators to vote for the five-year program outlined by President Chase. C. B. Hyatt made a talk, as did also James S. the meeting, and it was the vote of those present that they would do all in their power to secure proper provision by the legislature.

The principal addresses were made by Dr. L. R. Wilson, of the University faculty, and President R. H. Wright, of the East Carolina Teachers' Training School. Speeches were also made by J. V. Baggett, and J. E. Fowler. Resolutions were passed urging the Sampson County legislators to lend their full support to the program to enlarge the State institutions of higher education. The meeting was an enthusiastic one, and the attendance was fifty.

Rowan County is one of the most loyal alumni centers in the State, and plans are on foot for having more frequent meetings of the alumni in the future. Walter Murphy is president of the association, Stable Linn vice-president, and C. L. Coggin is secretary and treasurer.

Greensboro Carries On

One hundred Carolina alumni and students of Guilford County held a splendid banquet in Greensboro on December 30th. H. B. Ganter, president of the association, presided, and the principal address was made by Dr. W. C. Smith, of the faculty of the North Carolina College for Women. Dr. Smith made an inspiring and forceful address on the subject, "The Call of Carolina." Others who spoke were A. L. Brooks, Frederick Areher, E. D. Broadhurst, Earle Rives, S. I. Parker, and C. R. Wharton. An enjoyable feature was music by a quartet composed of Dave Kirkpatrick, W. H. Swift, Henry Foust, and John Wilson, Jr. Greensboro is in the thick of the fight stronger than ever in the cause of adequate higher educational facilities for the youth of North Carolina.

Concord Holds Mass Meeting

A rousing mass meeting in the interest of higher education was held in Concord on December 30th. L. T. Hartsell, Concord lawyer and member of the present State Senate, presided, and the principal address was made by Dr. E. C. Branson, of the University faculty, who in an earnest talk pointed out the glaring needs of our institutions for higher education and showed by figures that North Carolina was a rich State and could very easily care for her institutions of higher education. Others who spoke were: J. B. Robertson, A. S. Webb, C. E. Boger, Rev. A. S. Lawrence, and H. S. Williams.

Goldsboro Lines Up

The Wayne County Alumni Association held its annual banquet in Goldsboro on December 29th. The banquet was largely attended by Wayne County alumni and it proved a class in the University. The Alamance alumni planned in their meeting for definite action to aid in the campaign for adequate support for the University. The banquet was an enjoyable affair and the attendance was fifty.

The Lincoln County Alumni Association held a meeting and smoker on December 30th in Lincolnton. A. L. Quickel, lawyer and legislator, presided. A resolution was introduced by C. A. Jonas, endorsing President Chase's program, and this resolution was passed unanimously. B. E. Lohr spoke of crowded conditions on the Hill. A. Nixon was elected president, R. J. Mouser, vice-president, and K. B. Nixon, secretary and treasurer.

FETZER HEADS CAROLINA ATHLETICS

Announcement was made by Graduate Manager Charles T. Woollen on Jan. 6 that William McKethan Fetzer, at that time athletic director at the Carolina State College and former football and baseball coach at Davidson and at Fishburne and Staunton, had accepted the directorship of athletics at the University; and that his brother, Robert A. Fetzer, now coaching and teaching at Woodberry Forest School in Virginia, would be associated with him as associate director.

Both men come to the University under a two-year agreement, but no announcement has been made as to the exact amount of their salaries. Mr. Woollen has said, however, that reports in several State newspapers that Bill Fetzer was to receive a salary of $7,000 were greatly exaggerated. The same reports credited North Carolina State College with paying Fetzer $6,500 but the Raleigh institution has denied that statement. Whatever Fetzer's salary is, it will be borne by the Athletic Association and by alumni contributions, with no help or at least very little help from the University, which has not for many years paid any part of a coach's salary.

What applies to the older Fetzer, applies likewise to his brother, Robert A. Fetzer. The two are to be closely associated in the complete direction of athletics at the University. Bill came to Chapel Hill early in January and started immediately on his new duties. Bob, however, is under a contract at Woodberry Forest and will not come to Chapel Hill until next September.

Resuming the 1915 Policy

Placing the Fetzer brothers in charge of athletics is a continuation of the athletic policy enunciated in 1915, put into effect then, but since interrupted by the war. At that time a meeting of representatives of the alumni, faculty, and students outlined the policy thus: . . . that a general director of athletics be secured of the highest type in ability and personality, to have administrative charge of athletics; that under his leadership especial emphasis be laid on the general participation by all students in athletics; that adequate facilities be provided for the whole student body to play games . . . ; that competent instruction be provided in every branch of sport . . . that the development of high school athletics be encouraged by the alumni in co-operation with the alumni of other colleges, entirely apart from the consideration of where the students expect to attend college. . . . The meeting also expressed its desire to promote progress in athletics in the State and section through co-operating in every possible way with other colleges, and encouraging confidence and friendliness in all athletic relations."

It was in pursuance of the above policy that Tommy Campbell became director of athletics in 1916. The war upset plans and last year the inability to get the right leader further deferred the operation of the University's fixed ideal in athletic leadership. The appointment of Fetzer, and the association with him of his brother, mean that the policy has been resumed.

Bill Fetzer to Coach Football

In the definite working out of the policy Bill Fetzer will personally coach the varsity football team and baseball team. Bob will be intimately associated with him in varsity football and will have charge of track athletics. It will be necessary to provide a basketball coach. Major F. W. Boye, who has coached basketball for the past two years, will probably be back next year, and if so, will almost certainly be in charge again.

For the coaching of the freshman teams, every year becoming more important, complete plans have not yet been made. It is probable that a field coach for the freshmen football team will be appointed from University alumni, but both the Fetzers will be in close touch with him, will direct his work, and will give some time to the freshman squad themselves. Freshman basketball and baseball will also have to be provided for; freshman track can probably be handled by Bob Fetzer in conjunction with the varsity track squad.

General Athletics to be Stimulated

In addition to varsity and freshman teams the two Fetzers will seek to develop a more general participation in athletics of some kind by all the students. Exact details have not been worked out, but it is possible that an extension of the class-games system, better organized and made more general, will be followed out. The ideal sought is the general participation by as many students as possible in exercise. Under the present understanding Bill Fetzer, as soon as he has familiarized himself with conditions at the University, will make recommendations.

On the administrative end improvement is expected in many details of schedules, expenses, equipment, organization, and general efficiency. And also the two will be closely connected with the University's high school championship contests and will seek to develop high school athletics all over the State.

Appointments Are Popular

The appointment of the Fetzers has been hailed by students and alumni as the most important step taken in University athletics in many years. Bill Fetzer is easily the best known athletic leader in the State and one of the best known in the South. Bob has made a splendid reputation in Virginia, where he is better known than in North Carolina. Both have years of experience, have proved themselves capable teachers and leaders, and have gained a high reputation for sportsmanship and fairness in their work. When there was doubt in 1919 about Campbell's return, Bill Fetzer was first choice as his successor. Again last year he was definitely sought, but thought best to remain another year at State College. The call for him this year from students and alumni was unmistakable; the coaching committee, consisting of Mr. Woolen, graduate manager, Dr. Charles S. Mangum, chairman of the faculty committee on athletics, and Albert L. Cox, of Raleigh, representing the alumni, was flooded with letters and personal requests for Fetzer as head of the athletic system, and the choice is unquestionably a most popular one.

Both Fetzers Are From Davidson

Both the Fetzers are from Concord, and both attended Davidson College. Bill graduated in 1906, Bob in 1907. Bill was half back at Davidson and played second base on the baseball team. He played professional baseball with the old Carolina, the Carolina-Virginia, the Virginia, and the Western leagues. He was athletic director at Fishburne Military School for several years, held the same position at Stannton Military Academy for one year, went back to Davidson as head coach in football and baseball for several years, and has been at State College for the past two years. He has been uniformly successful throughout his coaching career. His Davidson and State College teams have become known all over the South and in many other parts of the country, and he has been sought as coach by many institutions.

Bob played end at Davidson, was assistant coach there in 1907, held the same position at Clemson in 1908, and became coach at Woodberry Forest in 1909, where he remained for four years. Two of his teams won the State championship. He has since taught at State College and has worked with the State Department of Agriculture. Last year he went back to Woodberry Forest, where he has again taken up coaching. He has also done much officiating in Virginia. Bob is married; Bill is single.

CAROLINA WINS DEBATE

Carolina won by unanimous decision the debate with the University of Pennsylvania, held in Chapel Hill on January 22nd. Carolina's representatives, upholding the affirmative side of the query, "Resolved, That a federal law should be passed rigidly restricting immigration for a period of two years," were: C. T. Boyd, of Gastonia; C. D. Beers, of Asheville; and T. C. Taylor, of Sparta. With this victory, Carolina has won six out of seven debates with the University of Pennsylvania.

ANGUS WILTON McLEAN ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY

Twenty-eight years ago, when a freshman at the University of North Carolin, I met Angus Wilton McLean, and my recollection of him is that he was one of the most powerful giants I had ever seen. At that time he could stand flat-footed, with arms at right angles with his body, and permit small boys to “skin-the-eat” on them. I knew nothing of his mentality, except that I heard my brother, Vietor S. Bryant, say that he was very able, and clever.

ANGUS WILTON McLEAN

For the last several years I have been thrown in contact with Mr. McLean in Washington, where he is now serving as managing director of the War Finance Corporation and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, and find that he is still strong of mind and body.

Mr. McLean is a fine type of North Carolinian. Being a Presbyterian, a Scotchman, and a Democrat he fits in the Woodrow Wilson school of Democracy like the glove does the hand. He has sense, courage and determination, and there has never been a day since he left the University in 1892 that success did not crown his efforts. At law, his chosen profession, he moved rapidly forward, winning suits in court, and the confidence of his clients, and the esteem of his associates. Litigation did not fill the McLean program, and the town of Lumberton, where he lived, felt his influence in farming, banking and manufacturing circles. There is a saying in Robeson County that everything he touches turns to money; that may be an exaggeration but it comes pretty close to the truth.

In Washington Mr. McLean has had time for politics, and society. As a member of the War Finance Corporation he has gained a nation-wide reputation as a financier and student of business conditions and problems. He succeeded so well that Secretary Houston practically forced him to the post of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, a place of honor.

Mr. McLean was born on a farm near old Floral College, Robeson County, April 20, 1870. He attended country and high schools and later the University.

Personally Angus Wilton McLean is pure gold. There is combined in him a seriousness of demeanor, a canny sense of thrift, and a deep-seated patriotism. He is intensely sectional in that he believes in North Carolina and is always willing to help along any cause that contributes to her advancement.

Mr. McLean's chief lieutenant in his career of lawyer, business man, and politician has been his wife, who, before her marriage, was Miss Margaret French. Three children adorn the McLean home—Angus Wilton, Jr., aged eight; Margaret, aged five, and Heeter, aged three months.

These are the high spots in Mr. McLean's journey through life. Money making has been secondary, and easy with him. His schemes were made to help his community, his party, or his church. A country boy who worked hard, took or made his opportunity, and who kept growing, sums it up pretty well.—H. E. C. Bryant, '95, Washington staff of the New York World, correspondent of the Charlotte Observer.

OUR OLDEST LIVING ALUMNUS

Born in Warren County on January 26, 1825; graduating with the degree of A. B. from the University of North Carolina at the commencement of 1845; passing his 96th birthday in the enjoyment of health and strength at his home in Raleigh on January 26, 1921; this is the lot of Dr. Alexander Boyd Hawkins, oldest living alumnus of the University of North Carolina. It is a far cry from his own student days and those of his college mates, Pettigrew, Ransom, Mangum, Steele, and Ruffin, to the present day of grace, but Dr. Hawkins spans all those years and takes a great pride now, as always, in his Alma Mater.

President H. W. Chase sent this message to Dr. Hawkins: “May I take the liberty on behalf of the University of sending you hearty congratulations on this 96th anniversary of your birth? In you, our oldest alumnus, the University has a peculiar pride, and she wishes you many happy years yet to come.”

From the student body, through a committee composed of W. R. Berryhill, J. H. Kerr, Jr., and T. C. Taylor, went this message: “We, the youngest sons of Alma Mater, send her deepest joy and our glad affection to you her oldest son and our eldest brother in the tradition and spirit of Carolina on this your 96th birthday.”

Eleven thousand alumni join with President Chase and the student body in wishing for Dr. Hawkins many more happy birthdays.

Let us figure out a twenty million, thirty-six year, five per cent bond issue for the colleges and eleemosynary institutions of the State. Reduced to its simplest terms it means forty-eight cents a year per inhabitant. This is to say, forty-eight cents a year per inhabitant not only pays the annual interest on twenty millions of bonds but settles the debt in thirty-six years upon an amortization plan.—E. C. BRANSON.

THE UNIVERSITY IN PRINT

A BUILDER OF THE SOUTH, being the story of the life work of Daniel Augustus Tompkins. By George Tayloe Winston, LL. D. Garden City: Doubleday, Page & Company, 1920. 03 pp. Portrait D. Price $3.00.

Daniel Augustus Tompkins, who died at Montreat in 1914, was a commonwealth builder, and more—he was one of the builders of the New South. He was born in Edgefield, S. C., received his college training in the University of South Carolina, and his technical training in Rensselaer Institute. His apprenticeship in industrial enterprises was in Bethlehem, Pa., in engineering offices in New York City, and in constructive industrial experience in Germany. For fourteen years he lived in the North, but even in the dark days of the early eighties he visioned the magnificent manufacturing possibilities of the South. In 1882 he turned his back upon the busy North, came back to the South, settled at Charlotte, and established a one-man business—a business that soon grew so large that his concern built 250 or more of our cottonseed oil mills. And he was almost equally busy organizing and building cotton mills.

We call him myriad-minded because he was interested in almost every phase of life—in common schools, agricultural and engineering schools, in building and loan associations—primarily for the ownership of homes by mechanics—in newspaper ownership and editorial work, in text-book writing, in public speaking on almost every field of work and thought, in literature, science, landscape gardening, domestic economy, birds and children. The most inspiring look into the soul of this remarkable man comes to us in his love for little children and young people.

We are saying these things to call attention to Dr. George Tayloe Winston's recently published Life of D. A. Tompkins. The literary craftsmanship of this book is superb. Dr. Winston tells a fascinating story from lid to lid. The college student who does not read it has missed a large chapter of real culture.—University News Letter.

REGISTRATION REACHES 1473

Official figures from the office of Dr. T. J. Wilson, Registrar, effectively dispel a rumor that was widely circulated over the State to the effect that the temporary business depression had caused many students to drop out of the University.

Dr. Wilson reports that the total registration since the University opened last September has mounted to 1,473, the highest mark it has ever reached in the whole history of the institution. The number of students who have dropped out for all reasons since September is 107; the number of new students who registered after the Christmas holidays is 70. The net loss since September therefore is 37, which Dr. Wilson says is less than the normal loss encountered every year. At the present time there are actually on the campus 1366 students, probably the largest number ever in Chapel Hill at any one time.

The loss of 107 students since last September is due, Dr. Wilson says, to normal reasons, failure to keep up with work, unexpected personal and family causes, and such matters, all of which operate every year, but less this year than before.

University records do not show that periods of depression in the past have caused any marked falling off in attendance. It has been pointed out that so-called "bad times" often has just the opposite effect, that is, more students go to college under such circumstances than when money is plentiful and it is easy for a young man to get remunerative work. And all University authorities are looking for a greater flood of applications next year than ever before.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATES

To the present date 225 high schools have enrolled in the High School Debating Union for the State-wide contest on the query: "Resolved, That the policy of collective bargaining through trade unions should prevail in American industry." The triangular debates will be held throughout the State on April 1st and the final contest for the Aycock Memorial Cup, the trophy provided by Carolina's intercollegiate debaters, will be held at the University on April 14th and 15th.

For the use of the schools taking part in the debates, the Bureau of Extension of the University has issued a 75-page handbook of debate material on the subject, entitled, Extension Series No. 40 "Collective Bargaining." The contest this year is the ninth one to be conducted under the auspices of the University, since the High School Debating Union was organized in the fall of 1912.

BASKETBALL SEASON OPENS SUCCESSFULLY

AS THE REVIEW went to press the University basketball team had won its first three games with Durham Y.M.C.A., South Carolina, and Elon, was facing the first Trinity game, and was preparing to start on the longest and hardest trip ever taken by a University team.

Practice was started immediately after Thanksgiving under the direction of Major Frederick W. Boye, former West Point player, who coached last year.

COLGATE'S "HANDY GRIP" The Refill Shaving Stick

You needn't buy a new holder

when your pen wears out

NOR do you have to buy a new "Handy Grip" when your Shaving Stick is used up.

Just get a Colgate "Refill" for the price of the soap alone. It screws in easily and quickly—like screwing an electric light bulb into a socket. The soap itself is threaded. There is no waste.

Moisten the bit removed from the "Handy Grip" and press it upon the end of the "Refill." It will stick.

There is no need of mussy rubbing in with the fingers when you shave with Colgate's. We took the rub out of shaving originally in 1903.

So many men come to you to talk about their business

What a satisfaction it is to find a man who can talk interestingly and helpfully about yours!

ALL thru the week you are besieged with men who want to use your time to their advantage. They have many reasons why you should do something that will be of service to them.

And only once in a long time does a man come who has an idea for you; who can make a suggestion based on the experience of someone else whose problem was similar to yours; who takes as much satisfaction in talking about your interests, as most men take in talking of their own.

You welcome such a friend; no man can have too many. Hence we feel a satisfaction in being able to add a man of that kind to your acquaintance.

We would like to have you meet and know the representative of the Alexander Hamilton Institute in your vicinity.

As a lawyer becomes a better counselor day by day thru his experience with the problems of each new client, so the Institute man grows in value to his friends, as man after man discusses frankly with him the special problems and opportunities of his own life and business.

750 business conferences a day

Day in and day out the representatives of the Institute are in personal conference with at least 750 business men in every sort of business.

Men confide in them problems that ordinarily would not be discussed outside the family circle.

"I have been five years in this job and seem to make no progress," one will say, "What would you do in a situation like mine?"

And because the Institute man has known other men in similar situations, he is able to give an answer based not on theory but fact.

"How can I get into business for myself"

Many men ask that question. Too often they think the answer is merely a matter of capital, or of finding a partner, or of being sure of so much patronage.

And the Institute man is able to point out that the reason so many business ventures fail, is because the men at the head have been departmental men and know only their own part in the problem of successful organization.

Selling, accounting, corporation finance, factory and office management, transportation, advertising, merchandising—each of these is a link in the chain. And many a chain that is otherwise strong breaks because one link is weak.

The representative of the Institute never intrudes; he never attempts to exert pressure. Every day applications for enrollment in the Modern Business Course and Service are refused to men who, in the opinion of the Institute's representative, are not equipped to profit by it.

You cannot impose on him

Among all the business men in your vicinity the Institute man is unique in this—he can only succeed as you are more successful. He literally has no interests that are apart from your interests.

He has at his command all the research facilities of the Institute. Do not hesitate to call on him for any reasonable service. He represents an institution that owes its whole growth and prosperity to the growth and prosperity of the thousands of men whom it has enrolled.

You have probably read some of the many advertisements of the Alexander

Hamilton Institute in the leading magazines; and perhaps you have heard, thru acquaintances, of the Institute representatives and their willingness to serve. But do you know what it is these men represent? Have you ever asked yourself, "What is the Alexander Hamilton Institute—what will it do for me?"

"Forging Ahead in Business"

There is a 116-page book published by the Institute just to answer such questions. It tells what the Institute has done for thousands of successful men, and what it can do for you. It is a book which should be in every thoughtful business man's library, and it will be sent without obligation. Just fill out the coupon below and mail it.

The Chief Cause of Piles

LEADING medical authorities agree that the chief cause of hemorrhoids or piles is "straining". Straining is the direct result of constipation, that is, failure of the system to eliminate easily, regularly and thoroughly.

It follows, then, that to prevent piles or to bring about their removal by non-surgical means, constipation must be overcome.

The Nujol treatment of hemorrhoids or piles is in a large part the treatment of constipation—that is, to bring about easy, soft, regular elimination, in such a way as to make it unnecessary to "strain"; and also to avoid the injury to the tissue by dried out, hardened waste matter.

Nujol not only soothes the suffering of piles, but relieves the irritation, brings comfort, and helps to remove them.

Nujol has no unpleasant or weakening effects. Does not upset the stomach. Does not cause nausea or griping, nor interfere with the day's work or play. Is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take. Try it.

Nujol

Relieves Piles

Nujol is sold by all druggists in sealed bottles only, bearing the Nujol trade mark.

If you are so unfortunate as to be afflicted with piles, send today for booklet "Constipation as a Cause of Piles", to Nujol Laboratories, Room 710 44 Beaver Street, New York City. (In Canada, address Nujol, 22 St. Francois Xavier Street, Montreal.)

Testing House where Hercules Explosives are prepared for the tests which verify their sensitiveness and rate of detonation.

The Testing Ground

In every high-explosives plant of the Hercules Powder Co. the testing of dynamite plays an important part in the day's work. Just as the most modern and efficient dynamite machinery is never considered infallible; just as the simplest and most obvious process is never taken for granted; so the accuracy and uniformity of the finished product is never conceded without complete verification.

Every lot of dynamite, after it has passed the chemical laboratories, must be tested repeatedly for sensitiveness by actual explosion before it is shipped. Upon the men in charge of this important work at the Testing Ground depends, in no small measure, the uniformly high quality of Hercules Explosives.

It is because of this constant testing—this skillful verification of quality—that, wherever Hercules Explosives are used—in blasting out a stump or a mountain, in diamond mines or stone quarries, digging a ditch or changing the course of a mighty river—their power can always be depended upon by those who seek their aid.

Where Two Hands Do the Work of a Hundred

THE scene is at one of our country's large freight terminals. Barrels, boxes, crates, bales, rolls—by the ton—moving in every direction, with no accidents and no damage. And what keeps everything moving so systematically?

When a ship docks, a traveling electric hoist lifts huge loads from the hold of the vessel to the dock. From this point the cargo is distributed by means of electric cranes, hoists, storage battery trucks, package conveyors, and electric industrial locomotives.

A like scene may be viewed in large industrial plants, at coal tipples, ore docks, or any other place where conservation of time and man power is essential.

In developing the application of electricity to material handling machines the General Electric Company serves not only industries but all mankind by making it easier to have the world's goods brought to the consumer's door.
